CORRESPONDENCE

Dear Friend,

The Arboretum Park Coalition is about to take legal action to prevent the City Council from signing away the public's rights in the Arboretum.

So we must raise $2,000 for legal expenses.

Any contribution you could make to help support this effort would be greatly appreciated. Checks should be made payable to the Arboretum Park Coalition and sent to me at 2423 E. McGraw, 98122.

Thank you /s/Rita Griffith

The I-90 Citizens Committee has requested the endorsement of ECC.

"The primary significance of the statement is the transfer of funds from Interstate to Mass Transit purposes."

STATEMENT

"In order to achieve these ends the I-90 Citizens Committee requests that the City of Seattle begin immediately negotiating with the Washington State Highway Dept. for rehabilitation and restoration of the I-90 community, and that the Mayor of the city of Seattle and Governor of the State of Washington immediately, under the authority of the 1973 Federal-Aid Highway Act, request transfer of funds from Interstate purposes to mass transit purposes, and that emphasis be on development of a workable city mass transit system in cooperation with METRO."

UNION AT NEWTON

On April 21st, the Eastlake Community will celebrate Earth Day at the Newton Street Park. The park marks the transition between the living and working portions of the lake. It is the point where the ECC proposed last year to put in a cul de sac to limit traffic on Fairview to enhance the residential quality of the area to the North. The park itself has been largely sponsored by Marty Klapper, as has the Earth Day Celebration each year. This year his efforts seem to have triggered some productive cooperation. Terry Pettus of the Floating Homes Association has been joined by James Francis, President of the Lake Union Association, in a combined effort to realize the Newton Street projects, with the Eastlake Community.

The problems with the park are simple, we are relying on donated services and labor, following a similar course as was taken with the Lynn Street Park. As materials are made available, improvements are made. With the help of the Lake Union Association there may be some surprising developments. The traffic thing is another matter. After several months of inaction, a memo was sent from the Mayor's office to the Engineering Department requesting the status of the project and requesting quick action on the ECC proposals. That was November 10. On February 15, the Engineering Department responded, outlining costs to the tune of $100,000! On the receipt of this information ECC gagged. The costs were restrictive to the absurd. But since we have some competent engineers experienced in these matters, it was decided to define the costs ourselves. Phil Keightly and Mark Clemmens have offered to clarify the matter. And now we have found that $110,000 in street access funds are available to us. It may be too early to be optimistic, but those monies may be helpful for the underfunded bikeway as well. This will be a subject to consider at the next meeting.

EARTH DAY CELEBRATION

RUMMAGE SALE

April 21st

SUNDAY

come

Marty Klapper (325-9333) is the founder of this traditional Eastlake event. Lamb au rotisserie is the basic fare, patiently roasted to be done about four. Other courses are pot luck, or if your cupboard is bare, bring a buck fifty to the Newton Street Peoples' Park and Public Street End, Sunday, April 21st.

Paul Trush (324-6201) is the man to see about RUMMAGE. Paul has a garage that is usually full of new and used rummage, but this year his supplies are painfully low. He is sending out a call for helpful rummage, or any rummage at all. The now famous garage is located just behind Pete's Super on Lynn Street. Easy Access to all. If it is especially great rummage give Paul a call, but if you don't feel too close to your rummage, just leave it in front of Paul's garage.

MEETING AGENDA

The Eastlake Community Council will meet on Tuesday, April 16th at 7:30PM at the Seward School Library located at the rear of the brick building. Bring a friend.

EARTH DAY CELEBRATION: Marty and Paul, introduced above, will be needing some help. Who will be doing what to help with the Earth Day Celebration.

SHORELINES MASTER PLAN: Members will be briefed as to the current status of SMP and EIS as a result of the hearing of March 28th.

PLANNING SESSION: Street Access money is available ($110,000). ECC has some ideas about bikeways and traffic patterns that may put that money to use.

POLICIES & PROGRAMS: A continuation of our last meeting. Jim Metz of the Central Seattle Community Council Federation will be speaking about some options.

SURVEY RESULTS: Resolutions and proposed action to be taken as a result of the March survey will be considered by the membership

Freeholder Candidates Visit the Eastlake Community: Seven fine candidates visited the March meeting of the Eastlake Community Council. Because of some mix up with the custodial staff at the Seward School, we were very pleasantly taken in at the DeGrasse's. The candidates attending were Jim Behrend, Ann Ormsby, Karen Rahm, Bill Harrington, Val Schultz, Stan Titus and Barbara Schlag. Barbara, bless her, lost by a narrow margin to Mike Rodosovich, a Seattle policeman. Terry Pettus lost also, but only after the absentees had been counted to George Patee, a retired civil service employee.

The overall board however, seems to be one of fairly good representation. Two candidates from this area were successful: Norman Rice, 2335 Boylston and Helen West, 2232 Franklin. It behooves each of us to attend as many of the weekly meetings as possible as the process of writing a new charter has just begun. The Charter process, more than any other activity in local governance, is based upon citizen involvement. It is through the freeholders that the people of Seattle allocate the powers to those who govern in the years to come.
