EASTLAKERS! – GET READY TO SHAKE IT UP AND CELEBRATE ON AUGUST 9TH

Interested in coming to an event that will confirm and heighten the sense of community that Eastlake residents currently enjoy? How about having a festival that will highlight Eastlake's offerings, such as our diverse restaurants, businesses and arts? What if the event offered fun activities for kids and adults alike? We know The Eastlake Shake is the festival for you!

Join us from noon to 10:00pm on Saturday, August 9th to celebrate what is uniquely Eastlake. The first annual Eastlake Shake festival will take place on the pedestrian corridor above Roger's playfield, between Roanoke and Louisa streets.

In cooperation with the TOPS/Seward School staff and volunteers, we are excited to offer a stage for live music throughout the day... Keep your eyes peeled for the line-up on posters and media distributed around Seattle!

Come see our Russian martial arts demonstration, and feast your eyes on the whirl of the belly dancers!

Opened by a speech by Mayor Greg Nickels, daytime
'Shake' activities will follow, including family-friendly fantasia such as face painting, a kickball tournament, pet parade, races and more!

The event will also support booths where you can sample the cuisine of our local eateries such as that from Bandoleone and Porta Greek Taverna. You can also get to know your local merchants, and buy crafts from Eastlake vendors. Scott S. Sherman Auto will be hosting a top-notch auto show at the event. Beautiful, rustic hand-printed linens from the Romagna region of Italy will be on show and for sale by the company, ialuna.com. Also debuted are the companies Thread and Thread for Art, which explore innovative and provocative combinations of art, design, and business. Cheka-Looka Surf Shop will be sporting a booth, as will Eastlake Mail, just to name a few! To boot, Hines Public Market Coffee and the Share Credit Union will be two of the event sponsors!

We are also pleased to announce that our beer garden will be open from 3:00pm to 10:00pm, and will feature suds from the Georgetown Brewery!

Volunteers are still needed to help with planning and to assist during the event. If you are interested in volunteering, or if you would like to inquire about renting a booth-space, about showing off your art at the event, or about being part of our entertainment/music line-up, please send us an e-mail at TheEastlakeShake@hotmail.com. Sponsorship opportunities are also available and welcomed! Please see the final page of this issue for the sponsorship form.

The Eastlake Community Council and The Eastlake Shake
Committee can't wait to see all of you on August 9th!

PUGET SOUNDKEEPER LAKE UNION CLEAN UP

This event will involve volunteers in kayaks and other small boats picking up trash and transferring the material to larger craft for subsequent offloading at a suitable site and pickup by Seattle Public Utilities. Additional cleanup may be done in shore side areas around the lake to involve non-boaters. Mayor Greg Nickels will be there to serve as Master of Ceremonies at the event kick-off.

The Celebration and Environmental Fair will be held afterwards at South Lake Union Park in order to showcase the efforts that these organizations make toward making Seattle and the Northwest a cleaner, better place. Music and food will be provided for the volunteers.

The East Lake Community Council will participate in the Puget Soundkeepers Lake Union Clean Up on June 28th. Any one wishing to participate should contact Ron Adams (328-7953, ronboadams@mac.com). The Eastlake group including several board members and friends of Lake Union will launch their kayaks at the dock in front of Zymo Genetics at 8:00 that morning. If you have a kayak on the lake and want to paddle to that site please join us there. This will be a full day fun and service to our community.

Lake Union Cleanup Schedule June 28, 2003

- 8:00 ECC kayaks launch from Zymo Genetics dock
- 9:00 Volunteer Sign in
- 9:30 Orientation

EASTLAKERS MOBILIZE TO FIGHT CRIME

At a well-attended meeting in April, Eastlakers got advice on crime-fighting from two Seattle Police Department employees. We learned that, although we are remarkably free of violence, there are a lot of car prowls and continuing break-ins of homes and businesses. Block watches are forming in which neighbors watch out for one another; for advice, contact Sonja Richter (684-7717, sonja.richter@seattle.gov)

The minute you see a crime in progress, call 911—and don't think it will be too minor to report, as sometimes big criminals commit little crimes too. If you don't think a problem requires calling 911, call one of the other numbers (see box). Neighborhoods earn police coverage based partly on the number calls. The police can't catch the criminals unless we alert them and provide details. Be observant so you can describe the perpetrator. And don't destroy evidence, such as by getting into your just after it has been broken into! And we've heard of instances in which someone has stopped a mailbox break-in crime but didn't report it to the police.

IMPROVED DESIGN FOR FAIRVIEW PATHWAY AND INTERSECTION SOUTH OF NOAA

Local businesses and landowners are working with residents and City officials to realize the dream of a shoreline pathway south of NOAA and a safer intersection where Fairview Avenue East intersects with Fairview Avenue North. Washington Real Estate Holdings, Inc., a landowner on Fairview, has donated an improved topographic and land survey, and a company vice president, Mike Brooks, has filled in the gaps on past designs while responding to the concern of other businesses that parking not be sacrificed. In a previous career as a landscape architect, Brooks designed Commodore Park on the Lake Washington Ship Canal.

The realigned Fairview/Fairview intersection would create a parklike area in front of the Washington State Employees Credit Union (east of Fairview Avenue E.) while creating a larger and more functional parking area west of Fairview, and reducing shoreline impacts and cost. The new pathway and intersection design were acclaimed at the ECC May 21 public meeting; further comments are welcome and needed.

It will be some time before the intersection design is developed and funded. However, the City is very receptive to the shoreline pathway being installed with volunteer funds and labor, so this is the time to for the community to complete its consensus on the design. A copy of the drawings is available for public review at Hart Crowser, 1910 Fairview Avenue E. Please send comments to cleman@oo.net or to Fairview, c/o ECC, 117 E. Louisa St. #1, Seattle 98102. I-5 SOUND WALLS ARE COMING FOR BOYLSTON — HELP DESIGN THEM!

For many years, ours has been one of the few neighborhoods that is adjacent to a major freeway but has no protection from noise, dust, and pollution.

Now the Governor has signed a bill setting aside $3.5 million for noise walls along both sides of I-5 south of the Ship Canal Bridge.

Those who live, work, or own property on Boylston Avenue East need to get involved right now to make sure that the Washington State Department of Transportation (WSDOT) designs a noise wall in front of your place that has the size, location, and appearance you want. If we don't get our act together, the money could be spent elsewhere.

To get involved, contact fellow Boylston property owner Jules James, 329-1885, lakeunionmail@juno.com, or write: Noise Walls, c/o ECC, 117 E. Louisa Street #1, Seattle 98102.

MONTHLY WEEDING PARTIES AT FAIRVIEW PARK ARE FOURTH SATURDAYS

Fairview Park is our beautiful little paradise at the north end between Eastlake and Fairview Avenues, near the Shelby Street end, adjacent to the P-Patch. Though created only 4 years ago (after 10 dedicated years of work to secure the park land), this park is showing signs of severe neglect (in large part because our Parks Dept. is very short on funding and staff at this time). Before they really had a chance, many of the native plantings have been taken over by weeds, especially by the big guys like clematis, ivy, and blackberry. We also have a significant infestation of Japanese Knotweed at the shoreline, all sprouting strongly once again. As neighbors and Native Plant Stewards, Kristy Berg and Krissy Biernacki are working with the Fairview-Olmsted Park Commission and the Parks Department to restore and nurture this gem of a park.

We are having regular work parties, every 4th Saturday of the month, from 10am-1pm. All are welcome to join in! You supply your own gloves and water. We supply tools, work, & a gathering time and place. And Louisa's Bakery and Cafe supplies treats (thank you to our wonderful neighborhood bakery!) The park is already looking better after recent work parties. Please join us—the results are most satisfying! Questions: 206-276-7938, Krissy@blueskies.ms

Volunteers are needed to speak up for Eastlake's policing needs at the monthly meetings of the East Precinct Crime Prevention Coalition, a non-profit organization which meets fourth Thursdays, 6:30 - 8:30 p.m. at the Seattle Vocational Institute, 2120 South Jackson, room 212.. If you can make it, just go, but also get added to the mailing list by calling 323-9584 or by e-mail to mary@sngl.org. And please send your ideas to ECC c/o Colleen McGrath, 860-9444, colleen@colleenjanemacgrath.com; and to the Floating Homes c/o Tiffany McNamara, tiffmcnamara1@netscape.net. Your comments, ideas, and volunteer involvement are welcome and needed.

Our elected officials particularly need to hear that the police coverage of our neighborhood is not adequate, that we need more patrols, and better coverage of the midnight period in between shifts. Please write, and send us any reply you get: The U.S. mail address is 600 Fourth Avenue, Seattle, WA 98102. If you send an e-mail, send copy it also to the captain of the East Precinct, Fred Hill, fred.hill@seattle.gov, 684-4300. Here are the e-mails for Mayor Greg Nickels and for the City Councilmembers:

FAIRVIEW GREEN STREET (NORTH) MEETS THIRD TUESDAYS

Facing south toward Hamlin Street

Fairview residents and businesspeople has met regularly for more than a year, producing a draft document that begins to address the goals. To facilitate public review, we will attempt to include this document on the Eastlake web site, www.eastlake.oo.net.

On May 20, we met with the Department of Neighborhoods' John Eskelin, our Neighborhood Development Manager, who walked part of the street with

Allison intersection facing north

We also hope to meet soon with Lyle Bicknell, Department of Design, Construction, and Land use urban designer involved in the Green Streets projects, and also with a representative from the Seattle Department of Transportation city to help us with traffic issues.

The group's next meeting is June 17, and tentatively July 15 and August 19, all at the Pocock Rowing Center, 3320 Fuhrman Avenue East. Interested neighbors are always welcome. To be added to the group's e-mail list: mkgskis@yahoo.com or SamMar@aol.com.

The Fairview Avenue Green Street (North) Committee meets the third Tuesday of each month to work on documenting the vision for the north end of Fairview Avenue (Hamlin to Fuhrman). A 1999 City ordinance designated Fairview as a Green Street, but further planning is needed to define what that means block-by-block.

The Green Street goals are to preserve the neighborhood ambience and character, improve safety for pedestrians and bicyclists, and maintain parking and traffic flow for residents and businesses. This all-volunteer group of us and gave useful feedback on our draft and some ideas for next steps.

West of Fairview Park facing north

Our next tasks are to incorporate maps and pictures into the draft and add detail to some of our more general recommendations, especially for non-standard approaches to our goals.

NEW COLUMN! URBAN LEGEND

BY MATAHARI KARI

Greetings! Welcome to the Eastlake News' newest and greatest useless-information column, Urban Legend. Have you ever wondered why most streets in Eastlake jump from 2300 to 2500 without 2400? Do you want to know who Terry Pettus was, and why he got a park named after him? Are you curious about how to sign up for a plot in Eastlake's very own P-Patch? Well, with this new column, we here at the Eastlake News hope to answer your ever-pressing questions about the neighborhood, and provide you with stimulating tidbits of local and neighborly activity. Have a question? We can't guarantee an answer, but we'll die trying. Please submit comments, compliments, complaints or queries to ecc_urbanlegend@yahoo.com, or Urban Legend c/o ECC, 117 East Louisa #1, Seattle, 98102. We love challenges.

What's going on with that "Egan House" up on Lakeview?

Good thing you asked! I've always wondered what the story is with that place – is it a house? Is it a park? Is it open to the public? Has it been forgotten? Who is this Egan, anyways? Well. The Egan House, located at 1500 Lakeview Boulevard, was originally built in 1957 for Admiral Willard Egan, from our very own United States Navy. I love that name, Willard. I wonder where he is now. Anyways, the house. It's a three-story house with skylights and 24 foot cathedral ceilings, giving it an "open feeling floor plan." (I've never been inside, so I couldn't tell you if this is true.) Turns out that the city acquired the property in 1998, and then began the process of refurbishing it so it can "continue to inspire as an exemplary architectural design beyond its original 50 years and well in to the next century." The restoration project is being handled by Historic Seattle, and supposedly you can rent out this little gem! Well, maybe not in this rental market, but wouldn't it be fun?

What is this "Night Out" thing I've heard about?

Night Out is scheduled for Tuesday evening, August 5 (just four days before the Eastlake Shake!). Now, we here on Minor Avenue don't need an excuse to BBQ in the street and hang out with our neighbors, but do you? Not familiar with Night Out? That's because we've never had one. The best part about it is that it gives us an excuse to close the streets and have a party with our neighbors. And we ARE interesting people, who wouldn't want to know us? Now, Night Out is an official activity of the Block Watch program (a good idea, if I ever saw one), which is an official commitment to look out for your neighbors (duh! you already do that!) and report "suspicious activity" – which, apparently, we've been having a lot of lately. If you're interested in organizing a Night Out event, or getting involved with Block Watch, get in touch with those city folks, specifically Sonja Richter at 684-7717, or sonja.richter@seattle.gov.

I saw the most beautiful produce the other day – where did it come from?

Farmer's Market season has begun! We here in Eastlake may not have our own Farmer's Market, but I know we've got plenty of food lovers! Support your local farmer and head out to a market for veggies, pasta, flowers... mmm!

Wednesdays: Columbia City (Columbia Plaza just off Rainier), 3-7p (my favorite one!)
 Thursdays: Lake City (125th & Lake City Way), 3-7p
 Saturdays: University District (50th & University Way), 9a-2p
 Saturdays: Magnolia (Magnolia Community Center), 10a-2p (brand new this year!)
 Sundays: Ballard (50th & Ballard Avenue), 10a-4p
 Sundays: Fremont (on 34th along the canal), 10a-5p
 Sundays: West Seattle (corner California & Alaska), 10a-2p (the mayor's favorite!)
 Everyday: Pike Place Market

How come Terry Pettus gets a park and I don't?

Because, silly, Terry Pettus did great stuff for this neighborhood! And, of course, there's hardly any more room for new parks! But you can still enjoy Terry Pettus Park, one of the pint-sized parks on Lake Union, named for activist, unionist and free-thinker Terry Pettus, who led the fight to save Lake Union's floating homes. The floating dock is a popular place to put in canoes and kayaks. This peaceful oasis is at the corner of East Newton Street and Fairview Avenue East.

MOST POPULAR PLACE IN TOWN

Congratulations to local barista Bronwen Serna and to employer Hines Public Market Coffee Inc. (2243 Eastlake Ave. East, 320-1426). She placed in the top four nationally at the U.S. Barista Championship recently in Boston. Competitors prepared an espresso, a cappuccino, and an individual creation, and were judged on taste, aroma, and presentation. ... And congratulations also to ZymoGenetics (1201 Eastlake Ave. E., 442-6600, www.ZymoGenetics.com) on the recent groundbreaking (see photo) for its third building, to provide 45,000 square feet of additional research and development space. ZymoGenetics, whose Nasdaq symbol is ZGEN, is a biopharmaceutical company focused on the discovery, development and commercialization of therapeutic proteins for the prevention or treatment of human diseases.

Bruce Carter, Chief Executive of ZymoGenetics, welcomes the crowd to groundbreaking of the new building

Thanks to Carol Henderson for donating to the Eastlake Community Council a much-needed easel for public meetings. Her business, Aim for Health (2712 Eastlake Ave. East, 284-1518, www.reduceyourweight.com) offers the OPTIFAST and ClubAim weight-reducing program. ... Praised on the P-I's webtowns web site as the “best Italian restaurant in Seattle,” Serafina (2043 Eastlake Avenue East, 323-0807) also has a much-praised music series which is now represented on a CD sold locally and on Amazon.com; 50% of the profits to go the NW Hope and Healing Foundation, which helps women dealing with breast cancer. Thanks as well to Serafina owner Susan Kaufman, who with her husband, Bob Geballe, represents this neighborhood on the TOPS Site Council, a governing body for The Options Program at Seward School.

Moxie Media (2021 Minor Avenue E., 322-6009), the “six-person Eastlake consulting shop,” has since its 1999 founding “burst onto the scene” with “energy and savoir-faire,” to become the “centerpiece of Seattle’s political world,” says a recent Stranger article. The Stranger commented that “light-filled breezy Eastlake office—with its futons, open layout, and big-screen TV—feels more like a mid-’90s dot-com than the wood paneled headquarters of Moxie’s downtown counterparts.” The building—a historic boat shed that once housed architecture offices—was beautifully restored by nearby resident Peter Erickson, who owns the building.. ...

An alternative to car ownership, Flexcar (www.flexcar.com, 323-3739) is a personal mobility club that provides its members access to a fleet of new and fuel-efficient cars conveniently located throughout the city. In Eastlake, for example, a Flexcar is parked at the corner of Fairview Avenue E. and East Newton Street. ... Anchor Bay Charters (781-0709, www.anchorbaycharters.com) which moors its yacht Seeker at 1611 Fairview Avenue East, the Seeker available on an hourly, daily, or weekly basis for cruises, parties, and events. ... The Early Music Guild (2366 Eastlake Ave. East #335, 325-7066, www.earlymusicguild.org) has announced its fall 2003 schedule, beginning with the Italian vocal group Le Venexiana in an October 11 performance of works of Monteverdi and other 17th century composers. ...

Writer Nick Gallo, who has offices in the Areis Building (2366 Eastlake Ave. E., 323-6947, ngallo@covad.net) recently flew to Acapulco to accept the Pluma de Plata award, an annual travel-writing prize handed out by the President of Mexico for the best travel article of the year about Mexico. A freelancer for almost 20 years, Gallo is a Contributing Editor for Travel + Live and writes for national travel publications, airline magazines and newspapers. His winning entry, about Puerto Vallarta, appeared in Alaska Airlines magazine. ... Antolin Blanco, owner of Pomodoro

MOST POPULAR PLACE IN TOWN

Ristorante Italiano (2366 Eastlake Avenue E., 324-3160, www.pomodoro.net) and a native of Spain, has opened Dulcinea catering, offering fine tapas and authentic Spanish cuisine.

Local cellist Paige Stockley performs Mozart, Shostakovich, Janacek, and Piazzolla with her Odeon String Quartet on Tuesday, July 22, 7 p.m. at Lakeside School in a family concert suitable for children ages six and older. Hot dogs and lemonade at 6 p.m., and the concert is at 7 p.m. Tickets are $7, from Ticketmaster or the Seattle Chamber Music Society at 283-8808. For more information: www.seattlechambermusic.org. ... After sitting vacant for a few months, the big new building at 1616 Eastlake Avenue (behind the Bank of America) will soon become an incubator for biotechnology companies. The building was recently purchased by Alexandria Real Estate Equities from Washington Real Estate Holdings. Alexandria also previously purchased the ZymoGenetics buildings, which it leases back to ZymoGenetics.

The Eastlake Zoo Tavern (2301 Eastlake Ave. E., 329-3277) earned praise in a recent Seattle Weekly story for its homey feeling, low prices, and games (which include three pool tables, regular and electronic dart boards, three kinds of pinball, and a shuffleboard runway!): “Many a wine bar may come and go, but the Zoo Tavern is forever.” The Eastlake Zoo is the only tavern in the city that is worker-owned. ... Condolences to local painter Jeff Hengst, who recently suffered theft of his monumental painting of Anna Nicole Smith. If you see the 8-foot tall painting, call him at Hengst Studio (1506 Franklin Avenue E., 328-4758), or call the police at 911.

The Seattle Post-Intelligencer’s Webtowns (seattlepi.com/webtowns) talks about Eastlake in a way many of us would agree with: “It’s funky, but not as self-centered as Fremont, some say. It’s not as congested as Capitol Hill. It’s close to downtown, but not too close. And while Seattle’s real estate boom hit this historic Lake Union enclave hard, it still manages to feel like an oasis of calm in urban storm.” ... The Eastlake web site (www.eastlake.oo.net) is hosted by Internet Central (923-1130, www.oo.net), a Seattle-based company owned by former Eastlake resident and former ECC board member Daniel Solomons. Internet Central offers low prices and attentive service for e-mail, web access, and web site hosting.

PARK NEWS

Lynn Street Park merchandise contributes to the park's stewardship fund. Post cards of the tiled Stockley bench are sold at Pete's Super (58 E. Lynn). Greeting cards depicting colorful tiles are sold at Lake Union Mail (117 E. Louisa), where you can also order an iron-on transfer of a favorite tile. For inquiries about the tile transfers: 322-3651, jeze2331@aol.com Attend the Eastlake P:-Patch Festival Tues., July 15 from 6-9 p.m., celebrating the 30th anniversary of the P-Patch Program. Seeds and refreshments will flow freely! Help June 28, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Lake Union Cleanup and the Good Turn Park weed-outs. Eastlake headquarters will be at Good Turn Park, at the Martin Street end a block south of the University Bridge. Questions: 322-5463, cleman@oo.net. With the hot summer weather, many trees need water, especially if they were planted in recent years. If you see a tree that is stressed, please water it, or urge the property owner or tenant to do so. There is no point in planting trees if they soon die from lack of attention! Get involved in planning for the I-5 Open Space/Colonnade Park. Parks Dept. public meetings occur 7-9 p.m. on third Thursdays, with the next meetings July 17 and August 21.

ECC SEEKS VOLUNTEERS AND DONATED EQUIPMENT

As an all-volunteer organization, the Eastlake Community Council can achieve its mission of building community and enhancing the neighborhood only with our help. We need your dues, and welcome additional donations. Donations in kind are also welcome. Current we need some armless chairs suitable for a conference table, and historical photos, clippings, video or audio tape, and other records for the Eastlake archives. Volunteer help is always needed, such as for the following:

- (1) Assist ECC in strengthening the neighborhood's crime prevention efforts and its liaison with the Police Department.
- (2) Design guidelines for Eastlake Ave. and for Lynn Street between Eastlake Ave. and Boylston Ave.
- (3) Work with the City on what to do now that Eastlake has met its housing production goals 13 years faster than called for by the City Comprehensive Plan.
- (4) Assist ECC's land use committee in reviewing project proposals.
- (5) Help distribute the Eastlake News to your block or nearby.
- (6) Serve on the ECC board or one of its committees
- (7) Take the lead on some other community project we haven't thought of yet!

To volunteer or donate: cleman@oo.net, 322-5463, or write to ECC, 117 E. Louisa Street #1, Seattle 98102

ECC DUES TO INCREASE – LAST CHANCE TO RENEW AT THE OLD RATES!

After a decade or more without an increase in its rates, the ECC board has voted to raise the household and business rates, while leaving unchanged the senior/student/low income rate. The board decided to allow a grace period until September 1, so if you write your check now, you will enjoy the old rates for another year. Please also consider an additional donation, as your contributions keep our budget balanced. ECC is an all-volunteer organization, so your money goes far.
