ROANOKE REEF

February 9 is "our day in court", when the case against construction of the 100-unit condominium in Roanoke Bay will be heard.

The lawyer has been working very hard, and his balance sheet now shows us in the red! So the familiar song: "please, a $ to the legal fund."

A painless way to help the cause, and have a mellow afternoon, is described above. Weldon Robison has again gathered musicians together for a low-key music afternoon--in the warm relaxed atmosphere of the Jazz Gallery, right at the edge of our neighborhood.

Come anytime between 2 p.m. and 8 p.m. for music, refreshments, and rap-chit-chat. That's THIS Sunday, the 9th of January. SEE you there.

FLOATING HOMES CHRISTMAS CRUISE No. 7

It happened the Sunday before Christmas that the Vth Virginia, white of color, puffed up of steam, and with greenery and colored lights a-bristling, took a multitude aboard for a turn around the lake(s); and a diverse gathering it was, indeed! The musical program was at once brash and integrative and compelling...already there's talk of a Christmas-in-July cruise!

SEATTLE PUBLIC SCHOOLS VOUCHER PROGRAM will be discussed January 19, Wednesday, beginning at 8 p.m. at St. Patrick's Church, 2702 Broadway E., sponsored by the Seward and Montlake P-TA's. The public is invited to hear James Moore from the School Services Administration on this new and controversial idea. It does affect all of us, at least inasmuch as we have knowledge of and a say in our educational institutions.

MARK YOUR CALENDAR* There will be a regular Edstlake Community Council meeting on Thursday, January 20, at the Seward School Library, 7:30 p.m. COME -- we have work and fun to do!

we hope this holiday is a time of hope
and renewal for you.
